GLOSSARY OF VERBAL FORMS AND DERIVATIVES from Published Old Hittite Texts¹

INTRODUCTION

This is a complete glossary of Hittite, Palaic² and Luwian³ verb forms and their derivative nominal stems which are attested in published Old Hittite tablets (i.e. the tablets in “old script” (OS); on the Corpus see next section).

The structure of the Glossary is identical with the well-known W. D. Whitney’s “The Roots, Verb-forms and Primary Derivatives of the Sanskrit Language” and need not be explicated.

Note that the Glossary does not include uninformative forms like e.g. ta-a-ja-az-z]]i or a-da-an-ta-a]n; however broken (but interesting for graphics, phonetics or morphology) forms like t[(a-a-ja-az-zi or a-d[a-an-ta-an are of course cited.

THE CORPUS

For datings of Hittite texts in general see above, p. 11, fn. 3. Under the Old Hittite corpus are understood those Hittite tablets that are listed by F. Starke, StBoT 23 (1977) and E. Neu, StBoT 25 (1980) with a dictionary and a supplement in StBoT 26 (1983). New revised datings and joins are given in S. Košak’s “Konkordanz der Keilschrifttafeln”, partly published as StBoT 34 (1992), StBoT 39 (1995), StBoT 42 (1998), StBoT 43 (1999) and now available on-line at Hethitologie Portal Mainz (www.hethiter.net) completely. Unless the contrary is noted OS datings as well as all joins are given according to Hethitologie Portal Mainz (HPM).

Asterisk (*) before the sigla denotes that the OS dating of the text is not certain, the MS dating is also possible.

KBo 43, “KUB 61” (i.e. VS NF 12) and IBoT 4 were the last volumes of these series available to me.
