KBo 40 Heinrich Otten and Christel Rüster, Keilschrifttexte aus Boghazköi. Vierzigste Heft. Texte verschiedenen Inhalts vorwiegend aus Gebäude A (Büyükkale). Berlin: Gebr. Mann Verlag, 1997. Pp. xvi + 50.

Reviewed by Harry A. Hoffner, Jr., The Oriental Institute of the University of Chicago

This volume serves to complete the publication of the text finds from the excavations of Kurt Bittel at Boghazköi in the year 1933, all of which bear field numbers ending in the letter "c." The huge task, the publication of 2,630 tablets and fragments, was begun in 1938 by Hans Ehelolf with volume 29 of the series "Keilschrifturkunden aus Boghazköi." As Otten notes in his foreword, the vast majority of the text finds of this campaign stem from an area in the southeast corner of the palace area on Büyükkale, Building A of which seems to have been a library or archive room.

The ensemble of texts recovered from this archive room give us an idea of what constituted the royal archives.

The task of systematically publishing the remainder of the c tablets was begun by Otten in KBo 34, continued in KBo 38, 39, and is now completed in 40. The ordering of the fragments follows the current working up of the texts by Dr. Silvín Košák in his "Konkordanz der Keilschrifttafeln III" (= StBoT 42). Košák's "concordance" was begun in StBoT 34 (1992) and continued in StBoT 39 (1995).

The hand copies are the work of the co-authors, Heinrich Otten and Christel Rüster, with four contributed by Erich Neu (numbers 22, 60, 79 and 310). Rüster compiled the tables and indices.

Since I have had no opportunity to collate any of the tablets and fragments copied in this volume, I cannot judge the accuracy of the copies on that basis. But since the co-authors are experienced and expert copyists, we have no reason to expect inaccuracies.

There are 380 fragments copied in this volume, a very large number. But most are very small. For that reason the authors identify a relatively small number of them as joins and duplicates. I count nine join pieces identified in the front matter. In addition drawings are made of three joins of previously published pieces (numbers 43, 72, 79). The authors group the first 102 fragments into general categories: historical texts and instructions, rituals, oracles, and festival rituals. The remaining 78 (numbers 303-380) are grouped under the category "various fragments."

More specific characterizations, such as attributions to a specific CTH number or identifications of duplicates, accompany about one third of the fragments in the first 302 numbers.

Many fragments are described as showing either Old Hittite or Middle Hittite ductus. Of course, all Hittitologists respect the opinion of Otten in such matters. Together with H. G. Güterbock he pioneered the technique of recognizing the Old Hittite script. But with such small fragments it is often quite uncertain if a given piece shows Old or Middle Hittite script. A case in point is number 193, which the authors identify as "ah. Schrift" with no question mark to indicate uncertainty. In fact, this fragment joins directly 2514/c, published as KBo 17.99 and transcribed most recently by Neu (1980: 101-2). In that place Neu claims to have determined by autopsy of the original that the script is not Old Hittite, but Middle.

This just shows the danger of attempting fine distinctions in dating on the basis of small fragments. I am sure that Otten and Rüster are aware of this danger, but the fear is that confident statements made by them may not be accepted with the same caution by less experienced Hittitologists.

A volume such as this, containing an extremely large number of very small fragments can seem an exercise in useless publication. If a fragment is so small as to contain only two or three signs, one could object that there is no reason to publish it. But since the c-tablets come from a known reasonably small and confined area of the excavation from which other larger pieces have already been published, it is clear that even such small fragments can and will be identified and joined.

As my personal contribution to this joint enterprise, which must engage all active Hittitologists, I would like to make known here a number of joins and duplicates not noticed by the authors. Recognition of several of these fragments also made it possible (and indeed necessary) to correct readings of signs and to modify and enlarge the indices of proper names.

- Nr. 6 (967/c) joins to the top of KBo 14.7, which forms a part of fragment 20 of the composition "The Deeds of Suppiluliuma (I)," edited by Güterbock 1956. This necessitates the amending of the list of personal names to "Mam[māli]."
- Nr. 23 (37/c) is similar to KUB 39.14 iv 13-14 and therefore probably belongs to the Hittite royal funerary ritual.
- Nr. 24 contains lines from an invocation to the gods: "If you are in heaven, in earth, in the mountains, etc." [ma-a-an-za AN-i ma-a-an-za K[I-i ma-a-an-za [... ma-a-an-za] a HURSAG-i (lines 2'-3').
- Nr. 32 Lines 12'-17' can be restored from VBoT 128 ii 9-14 (CTH 470).
- Nr. 34 (1698/c) is joined by the authors to KBo 35.245, but they have overlooked another piece in this same volume. 145/c (Nr. 263) fits, below Nr. 34 and to the left of KBo 35.245. This reconstruction makes possible the correction of line 13' from the copy's ku-al/ra-d[a]-to ku-e-d[a]-...

- Nr. 64 (518/d) is identified as a duplicate of KBo 15.37 iii 22-30. This must have been a typographical error, since it is Nr. 66 that is meant. For this passage as evidence for NINDA KUR RA GAKINAG see Hoffner (1974: 122 note 172). Nr. 64 is in fact a direct join to KBo 33.195 (243/q), with Nr. 64, line 1' continuing as KBo 33.195, line 8'. This would imply that 33.195 line 7' continued into the intercolumnium with GESTIN.
- Nr. 65 (165/p) is a duplicate to KBo 15.60 vi 1-11, the well-known scribal notation about Queen Puduhepa's instigation of a search for tablets from Kizzuwatna.
- Nr. 66 See above under Nr. 64.
- Nr. 80 Similar in places to KBo 34.15 + 23.91 i 17ff. For the divine name in line 4' U^d-MA-AM see van Gessel (1998: II 841).
- Nr. 117 seems to be a part of CTH 701.1 (Libation au trône de Hebat).
- Nr. 123 In line 7' read [... DINGIR].MEŠ-aš pār-hu-e'[-na-aš mü-mu-wa-i].
- Nr. 129 recalls CTH 423A (KUB 7.60) in line 2' [... ša-a-u-wa-a[r] QA-TAM-MA ki-i[-š-ta-ru].
- Nr. 132 is similar to KBo 10.34 i 15ff.
- Nr. 141 is similar to Nr. 35.
- Nr. 167 is a duplicate to KBo 24.109 + KBo 15.24 iii 4-8. (CTH 415 "Rituel de fondation(?)") and its duplicate KBo 13.114 (244/s) ii 22'-26'. KBo 13.114, like KBo 24.109 + KBo 15.24, is about 18 to 19 signs in width in columns II and III, while KBo 40.167 is only about 10 signs in width. KBo 40.167 is part of a third manuscript, CTH 415 C. The identification of this piece also raises a question about one of the signs in the copy. In line 3' Otten copied 1 NINDA SIG. The duplicate has the "SIG" sign only partly preserved on the break of KBo 15.24 iii'6, and could just as well be [K]U₇. Usage in other contexts suggests that this should be NINDA KU₇. Perhaps 1962/c B should be collated at this point. It may be difficult to determine, since, according to the Inhaltsübersicht, 1962/c B is severely scorched. In the Inhaltsübersicht, Otten mentions another badly incrustated unpublished piece, 1962/c A, that he believes belongs to 1962/c B, but which he did not copy for this volume. Apparently on it he is able to recognize column II, whereas in 1962/c B he gives no clue as to which column it belongs to. Since its lines are shorter than KBo 24.109 + KBo 15.24's, we would expect it to be towards the bottom of its column III. The še-ep-pi[...] and LDUG.GA.IGIS in 1962/c A II 4' and 7' must be the še-ep-pi-it of KBo 15.24 ii 23' (= cumulative ii 44) and the I! [DUG.GA.IGIS] to be restored at the end of KBo 15.24 ii 24'. That the latter should be restored in line 24' is clear from the repetition of the ingredients of line 24' nine lines later in 33'-34'.

- Nr. 169 (2/c) shows similarities to KBo 24.47 and 48. In line 3' read [1 ku-up]-ti-in.
- Nr. 170 While KBo 16.78 iv 9 is not strictly a duplicate to Nr. 170 ii 5-6, the wolf men and the archeress mentioned in both places make one wonder if the rest of line 6 should be read 3! [MUNUS.MEŠ iwan-teš]. Column II shows similarities to both KBo 16.78 and KBo 17.31.
- Nr. 173 is similar to KUB 58.54 iii and its duplicate KBo 20.85 iii.
- Nr. 176 (1601/c). The noun ga-ra-a-u (immediately followed by wa-aḥ-nu-zi) in 11' is a hapax. Perhaps it is an object that is "turned." But one also wonders if we have here an abbreviated expression, standing for the fuller tarāur dāi ta pedi=šši=pat wahnuzi "(s)he takes tarāur and turns about in place" attested in KUB 56.46 + KUB 43.48 i 2-3.
- Nr. 178 In lines 4'-5' read [wa-wa-ar-ki-ma-an ŠA] IM=ma / [še-er-ši-it e]-ep-zi. KBo 34.52.4 and its parallel KBo 21.6 obv. 15-16.
- Nr. 179 The obverse(?) may be an indirect join to KBo 20.70 + KBo 21.88 column III. In obv. 9' read [tūh-hu-uš-ta].
- Nr. 181 "Princes and princesses" are mentioned in line 5' followed by LÚ.MEŠ[SANGA ŠA d...]. The hapalzil and the container name hariulli in line 7' recall KUB 12.3 ii 2-3 [...]x mar-nu-an 1 DUG ha-ri-ul-ti / [ha]-pal-zi-li-it šu-u-an ti-un-zi.
- Nr. 193 See above in the introductory general remarks. Joins 2514/c (KBo 17.99) directly at KBo 17.99 i 8'-14' (= StBoT 25: 101-2 Vs. I 24'-30').
- (8') a-ap-pa DUG ÚTUL ša pe[-eš-s]-i[-e-e]-zi [ta-aš pít-ta-i 1 LÚ ha-a-pi-ia-aš]

The available space in the first break of line 14' may be too small to accommodate the restoration suggested by the duplicate KBo 17.42 + KUB 56.46 (Bo 2599) vi 22'-23' (Neu 1980: 103). A few readings of Bo 2599 vi by Neu (1980: 103) have been corrected here on the basis of the published copy in KUB 56.46. These were not noted in the "Addenda et Corrigenda ad StBoT 25" published by Neu (1983: 364). Perhaps something shorter than ŠA 2 hu-up-pa-ra-an-ni stood in this copy.

- Nr. 195 The DN's in the first two lines, read only as acephalic [x-li and [x-šu in the DN index on page XIV, are [dHa-pa-an-t]-al-li-in and [dKu-za-n]-i-šu-un. Perhaps the fragment belongs to CTH 627. Although Otten considers the ductus Middle Hittite, the Old Hittite forms of e-uk-zi "he drinks" show it is OH/MS.
- Nr. 199 The DN dKam-ma-ma-a-a[n] in "Rs." 5' occurs here for the first time, if it is not an error for URU Kam-ma-ma-a-a[n].
- Nr. 200 From a photo one might be able to determine if what Otten copied as lines "x+1" and 5' in the right column are both overruns from the left column. Although he counted it as line 5' in his numbering of the right column, the signs ALAN(ZÜ) pi-ra-an x-r[...] clearly continue the LÚ.MEŠ immediately to their left, in the left column, and Otten drew them smaller and less deeply incised, as a later scribal addition. The signs in x+1 he also drew smaller. The same smaller writing is found in left column, lines 7-9.

- Nr. 201 Note ^{GH}SAG.KUL "(door) bolt" in 3' and UZU.TI.HIA in 9'. Probably part of a festival text with Hurrian or Kizzuwatnean background.
- Nr. 205 In obv. 2' read perhaps [... i]u-ú-i-li in Luwian.
- Nr. 217 A fragment whose text was difficult for Otten to copy. It has a number of mentions of deer (LU-LIM^{HIA}) and a goat (MAŠ.GAL), a ruler/governor (EN KUR-TI rev. 5'), and speaker self-references (ammugga, verb x-x-ia-nu-un). There may also be a reference to catching deer: A-NA LU-LIM^{HIA} DIB-an-na (rev. 4').
- Nr. 221 Mention in left col. 4' of [HU]L-lu he-en-kán "an evil death." In right col. 2'-3' UR.G[I]L^{HIA} "dogs" and ŠAH.TUR.HI.A "piglets." This reminds one a little of VBoT 58 i 12 (CTH 323). Perhaps a part of a disappearing deity myth.
- Nr. 223 The Luwian word malwana- occurs several times (4', 6'): Part of a historical text or treaty, with first plural iterative verb ka-ru-ú [...] / [... ḫal??-z]i-iš-ga-u[-en] "Previously we used to [...]," and nu-un-na-aš-kán "and us" (5', cf. 8').
- Nr. 224 MH ductus according to Otten. Probably part of a MH treaty. Note the first plural verbs in 2' and 8'. In 4' read [... li-in-ki-ia-aš] ut-tar.
- Nr. 231 Direct join to KBo 15.48 i 17'-27' (CTH 628). Duplicate Bo 7871 published in Wegner and Salvini (1986: 66): A-NA ^dNu-pa-ti-ik pi-pi-ta-ma (18') 1 TUG¹ SA₃ TUR 1 TUG E.İB MAŠ-LUTUR (19') A-NA ^dA¹-dam-ma ^dKu-pa-pa 1 TUG SA₃ TUR (20') A-NA ^dU[GU]R-[ma] 1 TUG E.İB MAŠ-LU SA₃ (21') wa-aš-ša[-an-...] ^dE¹ ^dNu-pa-ti-ik za-al-ma-na-ia-kán (22') wa-aš-ša-t[a?]... A-NA ^dNu-pa-ti-ik pi-pi-ia-pát (23') ḫa-an-da[-...] U[D]I.KAM QA-TIS (24') lu-uk-k[at-ta-ma-kán] I-NA ... ḫu-uh-ḫa-aš an-da-an (25') at[t]a-aš DINGIR.MEŠ-aš x? pa-aḫ-ḫu-e-ni-it (26') a-aḫ-ḫu-ān-zi i-i]a-an-zi-ma ki-iš-ša-an (27') PA-NI [DINGIR.MEŠ A-BI-ŠU 1 ^{GH}ŠBANŠUR ADKID.
- Nr. 237 The obverse(?) is similar to KBo 16.49 iv 1-10 (CTH 635.10): [^{NINDA}wa-] ge-eš-sar (3'), [ḫu-ḫi-pi-i-in (3'), [^{GH}ŠIN-BI (6').
- Nr. 263 is direct join to Nr. 34 (q.v.).
- Nr. 289 The ne-eg-na-aš-te-eš of ii 14' is the nominative form, which was logographically represented by the ubiquitous ŠEŠ=KA "your brother." See Hoffner (1988) and CHD I-N sub. negna- "brother".
- Nr. 307 is a duplicate to KBo 23.1 + ABoT 29 i 11-16 (CTH 472: rituals of Ammiḫatna, Tulpi and Mati).
- Nr. 311 (502/c) joins directly KUB 39.14 (642/c + 2728/c (+) 2795/c) ii 5'-11'. šar-tu-li-ia-li (1' + 39.14 ii 5'). 3'-4' (= ii 7'-8') mentions the burning of the musical instrument (^{GH}ŠBALAG-ma) that was probably played in the mournful singing mentioned (galgalt-naiz[zi] nu^{MUNUS}taptaraš wēškiwan dā[i]) in KUB 39.14 i 10'-11'. The second item burned ought to be the plow (^{GH}ŠAPIN-an-na), but the break is too wide (^{GH}Šx-x-x-x-an-na). This might be a syllabic writing, but the trace does not permit ^{GH}Šap-pa-l]a-an-na or ^{GH}Šap-pa-la-aš-š]a-an-na. Cf. Hoffner (1974: 45 n. 215; 1997: 110-11, 203), Friedrich and Kammenhuber (1975-84: 163), Puhvel, (1984: 96). The trace before -an-na in ii 7' should be checked on the original. KBo 40.311 (502/c) rev. fits in the middle of KUB 39.14 iii 2-3.
- Nr. 313 is parallel to KUB 29.1 iv 17-19 (CTH 414). In line 4' read [... hur-pa-aš-ta-nu-uš.
- Nr. 314 is duplicate or parallel to KBo 19.142 (CTH 721) iii 1-11. This permits correcting Otten and Rüster's copy in line 824 to [ZA]G-it kul-i[t ḫar-zi ...].
- Nr. 315 is similar to KUB 20.88 i 1-13 (CTH 647.5). This might be an indirect join.
- Nr. 323 might be part of a treaty or instructions. In line 5' of the obverse(?) is a new word: še-pi-ia-aš. Cf. also obv.(?) 6'.
- Nr. 326 might be a part of the royal funerary ritual (CTH 450).
- Nr. 338 "Rs. 5 ff." was cited as unpublished by Belkis Dinçol (1996: 218-19) as part of her reconsideration of the character of the lu-panni-. I would read obv. 1' as [... Kán-ti-pul-it-ti NINDA.KUR₄ RA U[D]-M[i]], and add this deity's name to the indices.
- Nr. 341 looks like a part of a disappearing deity myth. Read in 4' [... UM-MA A-BI^dIM-MA and in 6' ad-da-aš ḫu-ū[h-ḫi-š-š] ...]. Compare KUB 32.24 (+) 28 ii 2. This fragment contains an Akkadogram attested only rarely in Hittite texts: RA¹ I-I-MI-IA "my dear/beloved (one)" (7', 10').

The Hittite word underlying this logogram must be aššiyant-. It also occurs as an Akkadogram in [ŠEŠ.DUG.GA=YA] RA-IM-MU-YA "my dear brother, my beloved" in HKM 66:4 (Mašar letter), in the feminine RA-IM-TL-KA-MA in KUB 48.88:9 (royal letter), and in two Akkadian texts from Boğazköy: KUB 3.61:4 and KUB 3.83 obv. 5, rev. 3. Cf. CAD R sub ra-īmu.

2. • Nr. 346 We see here an unusual shape of the LA sign in la-la-wi-ša- "ant" or "ant swarm" obv. 2', 4', 5'. If it means the former, it might seem strange at first sight to read aši šalliš lalawišaš "that large ant." But words like "large" and "small" are always relative terms, and this only need mean an ant larger than most varieties. IGI?-ta-at (obv. 6'), coming at the end of its clause, has to be either a middle verb in -tat or contain the predicate (IGI?-ta-at or IGI?-t-at). The subject of iterative verbs wakiškizzi and wakiškanzi is probably the ant or ants. It is interesting to note that the bee "stings" (šāi-), while the ant "bites" (wak-). Judging from the compound noun tarumaki- "wood-pecker," the verb wak- also describes the pecking of that bird.
- Nr. 349 Line 3' e-la-ni-e[š] probably contains the verb elaniye-, which occurs principally in the Tunniawi ritual. See Friedrich and Kammenhuber (1988: s.v.) and Puhvel (1984: s.v.).
- Nr. 365 My colleague, Dr. Oğuz Soysal, called my attention to the purtenance of this fragment to the OH Zikraši text. He considers ^mZa-u-iu-ti-in a variant writing of the name [^mZa?]-a-lu-di-iš and ^mZa?-a-lu-ti-iš of that text (KBo 7.14 obv. 14, cf. 16). There is, however, the possibility that the latter two, whose first sign is always at least partially broken away, should be read ^mHa-a-lu-ti-di-. The ÉRINMEŠ SA-AM-HA-R[A? of 6' is familiar from the Yarim-Lim fragments (KBo 22.3 + KUB 36.103:3', KUB 40.5 + KBo 22.4 + ii 5, with duplicate KBo 12.13 + KUB 40.4).
- Nr. 368 The language is Old Hittite, but the ductus is New Hittite. Two mountains are described: one filled with eyqn trees, the other with harau "poplar" (gen. haruwaš). The attested genitive is haruwaš (see Weitenberg [1984: 264–65] and Puhvel [1991: 141–42]).
- Nr. 369 The form ki-it-ha-ha-ri in line 8' looks faulty. A form ki-iš-ha-ha-ri exists (from kiš-, but I know of no middle verb kit-. With šēzi, UMMA ŠU=MA and kišhaḫari and the many examples of direct discourse marked with -wa, there is a strong resemblance to KUB 60.98.

- Nr. 371 The left column is a duplicate to KBo 3.23 i 9–13, on which see Archi (1979: 41–42): (2') [... na-at-kán ša-an-h]a-an (3') [e-eš-du nu le-e za-a]p-pi-ia-at-ta š (4') [... DUGGAL.HLA DUG.TUR.HLA ^{DUG}HAB.HAB.HLA. It is not a join to KUB 31.115. It might be an indirect join to KBo 14.41, but certainly not a direct one.
- Nr. 372 looks like part of a literary text (myth?). In line 10' we have a nice simile: ^{GIS}ši-ia-tal GIM-an HURSA[G ...] "Like a shaft the mountain [...]." In line 6' [...] ZÍZ-aš AŠA-LAM GIM-an "like a field of wheat." The new word, išd/tarawanza, occurs in 3' and 41', and ^{GIS}iyatar=m[et] and darawar=m[it] in 4' and 8'.

The co-authors, Otten and Rüster, deserve our thanks for this very useful volume of fragments from the 1933 season. I am sure that other reviewers will be able to add to the identifications I have made, as will Dr. Košak in his future volumes of the Konkordanz series.

Reviewed by Gábor Takács, Hungary.

The work under review, abbreviated here as HSED, is intended to reflect our present knowledge of the lexical reconstruction of Proto-Afro-Asiatic (or Proto-Semito-Hamitic), encompassing all previous research on the matter. In this review I will try to ascertain whether or not Orel and Stolbova have succeeded in accomplishing their goal.

The authors worked on this project between 1986-1993, and their book of more than 570 pages appeared in 1995. The previous major attempt on an Afro-Asiatic dictionary was the Sravnitel'no-istoričeskij slovar' afrazijskich jazykov (SISAJa), which was published in three thin volumes between 1981 and 1986 in Moscow. This was the fruit of the teamwork of a group of Russian specialists in Afro-Asiatic led by I. M. Diakonoff that included A. G. Belova (Semitic), A. J. Militarev (Berber), V. J. Porhomovskij (Chadic), and O. V. Stolbova (Chadic). (V. É. Orel was not member of this team.) Unfortunately, the project had to remain unfinished: the three volumes covered only the words with initial labial stops (*b-, *p-, *f-, *p̥-); dental stops (*d-, *t-, *t̥-) and affricates (*s-, *c-, *č-, *z-, *č-, *č̥-, *š-, *č̥-, *č̥-). After 1986, Diakonoff's team split up.

Since the Diakonoff project was never finished, the only "complete" (in a broader sense) Afro-Asiatic dictionary before the HSED was Cohen's famous Essai comparatif from 1947. (A parallel study by Ehret on the reconstruction of Proto-Afro-Asiatic appeared in 1995, but this work is to be subject to a separate review.) The authors had the task of summarizing the results of nearly fifty years' research in a scholarly field that has witnessed revolutionary progress since the sixties.

Throughout their dictionary, Orel and Stolbova propose many new lexical comparisons that have not yet been discussed either in the SISAJa or in other recent publications of the "Moscow school" of comparative Afro-Asiatic linguistics. Many of these new etymologies result from the relatively rich presentation of the Chadic material in this dictionary. This is not surprising since the main field of research of Stolbova is Chadic comparative linguistics. It is my impression that the "strongest" and most interesting part of the HSED is just the Chadic lexical material, while the most poorly presented one is Berber. This does not mean, however, that the treatment of Chadic material in this book is without problems.

VORWORT

Das vorliegende Heft KBo 40 dient vor allem dem Ziel, die Edition der Textfunde aus der Grabung von Kurt Bittel im Jahr 1933 zum Abschluß zu bringen. Begonnen wurde die Veröffentlichung der insgesamt 2630 Tontafeln und Tafelfragmente bereits 1938 von meinem Lehrer Hans Ehelolf mit Heft 29 der „Keilschrifturkunden aus Boghazköi“, enthaltend einige Hethitische Rituale, Omina, eine größere Zahl von Fragmenten der Hethitischen Gesetze sowie die sog. Pferdertexte.

Die überwiegende Zahl der Textfunde dieser Kampagne gehört zu einem geschlossenen Komplex, der ab 1931 in der Südostecke des Palastareals auf Büyükkale freigelegt worden war (Gebäude A) und als „Bibliothek“ bezeichnet werden darf. Damit ist die Möglichkeit gegeben, die zahlreichen Einzelfragmente oft zu größeren Tafeln zusammenzufügen, was es dem Philologen ermöglicht, einen aussagekräftigen Kontext zu rekonstruieren, aber auch einen Überblick des Gesamtbestandes dieser Tafelsammlung in seiner inhaltlichen Gruppierung, sowie in seiner zeitlichen Zuordnung zu gewinnen.

Eine Publikation dieser Art, systematisch begonnen mit Heft 34 der KBo, fortgesetzt in KBo 38, 39 und jetzt (mit 380 Nummern) in Heft 40, kann nur eine Nachlese bieten, deren Bedeutung in der dann vollständigen Vorlage des inschriftlichen Materials liegt. Die Anordnung der Fragmente erfolgt in engster Anlehnung an die laufende Aufarbeitung der Texte durch Herrn Dr. Silvin Košak in seiner „Konkordanz der Keilschrifttafeln III“ (= StBoT 42)¹. Diese Art der Zusammenarbeit hat den Abschluß der vorliegenden Edition wesentlich gefördert.

Die Autographien sind von den beiden Verfassern im Laufe der letzten Jahre in Ankara im Anadolu Medeniyetleri Müzesi angefertigt worden. Zu danken haben wir dabei dem Direktor Sayın İlhan Temizsoy sowie den Kustodinnen der Keilschriftlichen Abteilung. Unser Dank gilt ferner der Deutschen Forschungsgemeinschaft, die mit einer Sachbeihilfe den Arbeitsaufenthalt in Ankara erst ermöglicht hat. Ein besonderer Dank aber gilt dem Leiter der Ausgrabungen in Boğazkale, Herrn Dr. Jürgen Seeher, der für eine arbeitsgerechte Unterkunft in Ankara gesorgt hat.

Wie bei den früheren Heften hat Frau Christel Rüster einen großen Teil der Texte und Tafelzusammenschlüsse autographiert; ebenso hat sie die Manuskriptgestaltung des Vorspannes und die Zusammenstellung der Nummerntabellen und der Indices übernommen.
